Niche Environment and Heritage is a leading multidisciplinary consultancy specialising in ecology, cultural heritage management, environmental approvals and biodiversity offsetting. Established in 2009, we deliver projects to clients across eastern Australia from our nine locations. Our 40 strong team includes ecologists, botanists, cultural heritage experts, archaeologists and environmental engineers.

Our reputation with government and industry as a leading provider of high quality cultural heritage services in QLD is built on our commitment to employing only suitably qualified people to undertake cultural heritage and environment assessments. This commitment and our core values of Care, Excellence, Integrity and Trust enable us to establish only respectful, ethical and professional relationships with all our clients, government agencies and the communities within which we work.

In QLD we are seeking a motivated and enthusiastic entry to mid-level cultural heritage professional who preferably has a background in Aboriginal cultural heritage management and/or experience within the QLD statutory context.

This position is being offered initially on a full-time though fixed term basis to support an anticipated high project workload during 2018. Due to our ever expanding client portfolio and a strong pipeline of project work, at the completion of the fixed term period we may consider extension or ongoing permanent employment for the right candidate.

Key attributes we are seeking from candidates include:

- A tertiary qualification, minimum Honours degree with a focus in anthropology, archaeology or cultural heritage management. Other related or relevant disciplines may be considered on a case-by-case basis.
- A focus on Aboriginal Australia and/or Aboriginal cultural heritage management practice would be looked upon favourably.
- Experience working within the QLD statutory context, particularly under the Aboriginal Cultural Heritage Act 2003.
- A good communicator including demonstrable professional writing skills, the preparation of sound technical reports and clear and concise writing in 'plain English'.
- A self-motivated worker with an ability to work well independently or as part of a team of professionals.
- Competence with technology including experience with using GPS units, tablets and laptops, smart-phones, digital cameras, and the Microsoft Office Suite of products.

- A full current driver's licence and able to drive a manual vehicle.

A salary package will be offered that is commensurate with the level of experience of the preferred candidate.
